SCHOOL HISTORIES AND ESSAYS ARE DISCUSSED

MRS. FLORENCE M. COOLEY, OF JACKSONVILLE, ALSO REPLIES TO A COMMUNICATION REGARDING THE RECENT U. D. C. CONVENTION.

Editor Pensacola Journal:
Owing to the press of business at the U. D. C. Convention, several of the most important business matters were overlooked. Two of these, the giving of gold medals for historic essays on given subjects, and the attention given to text-books used in the Southern schools, are of especial interest, and I would like to call attention to these two lines of work while the convention is fresh in the minds of the Journal readers.

The handsome gold medal given annually to the best essay from the four state schools you have already mentioned. The Martha Ried Chapter of Jacksonville, gives a very handsome medal to the Duval County High School for the best essay upon a topic selected annually by the Chapter. This year, for the first time, the faculty have made the writing of this essay compulsory upon the graduating class, so that we were assured that these thirty students, as well as some under graduates, were studying and writing of the life of Jefferson Davis.

The J. J. Finley Chapter, of Gainesville, gives two gold medals annually, one to the Alachua County High School, and one to the East Florida Seminary at Gainesville.

This is a line of work especially adopted by the various state divisions and chapters, the chapter at Richmond, Virginia, giving a ten dollar gold piece instead of a medal. During the past year I have had letters from three other states asking me to give them details of the manner of selecting the historic topics, cost of medals and any suggestions that would assist them, so that Florida is recognized as a leader in this most important work.

General Reese, of Pensacola, was one of the pioneers in objecting to school histories that were unjust to the South.

The work of the various chapters and divisions is so well known regarding histories used in schools, that the publishers of school histories sent them to Miss Mildred Rutherford, of Athens, Ga., and to Mr. J. William Jones, of Elberton, Ga., for criticism. Knowing that the United Daughters of the Confederacy will not allow unjust histories in the Southern schools. These two matters, the medals and the school books, are causes for just pride among the earnest workers in the U. D. C. ranks.

The Missouri Division U. D. C. reported at St. Louis convention, that they had caused twenty-three text-books to be thrown out of the public schools of Missouri.
A third matter of interest is the establishing of a scholarship of a hundred dollars in the Teachers' College of Columbia University, New York City, for a historic essay on a given topic.

This action was brought about through a Florida woman, Mrs. Livingston Van Rensselaer Schuyler, formerly of Ocala. She made the motion at St. Louis, defended it well, and carried it almost unanimously. The gift was accepted by the faculty and is now established. To all who know the magnitude of the college, this stands as one of the finest pieces of U. D. C. work.

I am sorry to note in your Journal report of the concluding session of the convention that you say my name was mentioned as a possible state president. I have held every office within the gift of the Florida division, and only vacated the chair of president one year ago, two terms being the limit of office for all offices except historian, who is elected for a term of three years. I am now holding three of the most important appointments within the gift of the organization—Florida Director of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, one of five commissioners upon the erection of the Olustee Monument, and chairman of the committee to formulate stationery, select dies, etc., for the general organization United Daughters of the Confederacy. I have no desire to usurp all the honors, and my name was never before the delegates for consideration.

The only time a division was called in the convention was upon a motion to eliminate irrelevant matter from the minutes, when I had the pleasure of leading a majority vote of thirty-nine against a minority of ten.

Trusting that the medal and school history work may inspire your readers, I remain very sincerely,
FLORENCE M. COOLEY,
Jacksonville, Fla.

NEWS NOTES OF MOLINO

PLENTY OF WORK AT THE PRESENT TIME—BERRIES RIPENING RAPIDLY—PERSONAL NEWS.

Special to The Journal.
Molino, May 13.—We are having some real warm weather now, but we must not begin to complain about warm weather so early. What will we do when summer comes sure enough?
There is plenty of work going on here now. The saw mill and planer and the brick yard are running every day and that gives employment to a great many men on the mill yards, besides the log sawing and wood chopping and hauling which gives employment to a great many more.

There are a great many berries ripening now, and berry picking and fishing are very much indulged in by those who have the chance to avail themselves of those pleasures which only come to us in spring and summer.

The gardens are not doing so well and very few vegetables are being brought in for the market.
There was a song service at Jennings Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming and several of the young folks from here attended and spent a pleasant afternoon. Misses Pearl Crabtree and Ada Fleming presided at the organ.

Mr. Harry Tait, of Pensacola, was a visitor here Tuesday, the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Grimmar and Miss Tait. Misses Flora and Nettie Tagliola and Mr. John Brewton, all of Pensacola, spent the day here Wednesday, the guests of Miss Mattie Ackerman.

They went fishing and caught fish enough for their dinner, which was prepared and eaten at the river. They had a pleasant day. We were sorry we could not be with them.
Mrs. E. S. Barneau and her four little grand-daughters, Lizzie, Della, Eunice Snowden and Pet Hannah, have gone to Quintette to visit her son, Mr. Henry Barneau, and family. She will go from there to Olive to visit her son, Tom, and family.

Miss Mattie Ackerman went to Pensacola Friday afternoon. She returned Saturday on the noon train.
Mr. Jim Duffin is quite sick. Dr. Findlay, of Pine Barren, was called to see him. We hope he will soon be well again.

Mr. Lawrence has an appointment to preach here to-morrow afternoon and we hope he will have a good attendance.

HUNTING FOR ROBBERS' GOLD

NUMBER OF MEN SCOURING ROCKIES FOR REPUTED BURIED TREASURE.

(Special to The Journal.)
Denver, Colo., May 13.—A reputed treasure of gold dust and currency buried in the mountains just off the old South Park stage line is at present engaging the attention of a number of men who are diligently scouring the hills. A dispatch from Bailey's, on the South Park line, says that several strangers have arrived there for the express purpose of searching for the booty of stage robbers, hidden forty years ago.
In 1864 James Reynolds, a Confederate captain, became leader of a guerrilla band similar to Quantrell's. The gang held and robbed what was called the "Buckskin" coach on the old South Park trail, and secured $40,000. Its members were attacked on the following day. One man was killed and Capt. Reynolds and five of his men were captured. But two escaped, and they, it is said, buried the treasure at a point near the scene of the battle and were never afterwards able to find it.

A Distasteful Calamity.
It was a distasteful calamity, when you lost your health, because indigestion and constipation have sapped it away. Prompt relief can be had in Dr. King's New Life Pills. ## AMUSEMENTS.

LAWN PARTY AT MRS. MORENO'S.
Wednesday evening from 5 to 7-30 o'clock, Mrs. Scarritt Moreno will give a lawn party at her home for the benefit of the Library Association. Among the features of the occasion, and one which will delight the children, will be a peanut hunt, the child finding the largest number of peanuts getting a prize.

It is needless to say that this entertainment, as is everything else with which Mrs. Moreno has to do, will be a delightful affair.

Impossible to foresee an accident. Not impossible to be prepared for it. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—Monarch over pain.
